

Write a program that asks a user to input the dimensions of a room. The program will compute the amount of carpet needed to cover the floor of the room. Input will be in feet.

Output should show the room dimensions and the amount carpet needed, in square yards.

In your program, use `setprecision`, `fixed` and `showpoint` to control the final output so 3 places show after the decimal point.